

Former Ambassador to Switzerland & Liechtenstein, Advisor to President Trump

Edward McMullen

From November 2017 to January 2021, Edward McMullen served as the United States Ambassador to Switzerland and Liechtenstein. During this time, he built the strongest bilateral relations to date between the United States and Switzerland As Ambassador, he primarily focused on foreign direct investment (FDI) and met with more than 300 CEOs and board members in Switzerland and Liechtenstein to strengthen relationships and foster a positive environment for economic growth. Thanks to his leadership in this area, Switzerland rose from being the eighth-largest to the sixth-largest source of foreign direct investment in the United States. Edward McMullen is a frequent...
