

Serial entrepreneur & technology architect, expert in AI & digital transformation, platform economics & impact

Christian Rebernik

Christian Rebernik is a serial founder and technology entrepreneur who has been shaping the development of scalable digital platforms in Europe for years. For over 25 years, Christian Rebernik has been building and scaling digital products and platform architectures, from the first lines of code to platforms with millions of users. He played a key role in building N26, founded Vivy, one of Germany's largest digital health platforms, and developed the ShareTheMeal donation platform in collaboration with the United Nations. His strength lies in implementation: not just thinking about technology, but bringing it to life. Technology that works: scalable, secure,...
