

Robotics pioneer – Forbes 30 Under 30 – Founder & CEO Robonnement

Nimrod Malinas

Nimrod Malinas belongs to a new generation of entrepreneurs who not only think about technology – they implement it in real industry. As founder and CEO of Robonnement, one of Europe's first robot-as-a-service companies, he has installed over 200 industrial robots in factories in the DACH region and made automation accessible to small and medium-sized enterprises. His lectures combine entrepreneurial reality, technological vision and an extraordinary personal story – from construction worker to Forbes founder. Nimrod Malina's Lecture topics The democratisation of robotics Why robot-as-a-service is changing an industry that for decades was only accessible to large corporations – and why...
