

Expert & Author on Government Modernisation, Digital Sovereignty & Geopolitics

Ann Cathrin Riedel

Ann Cathrin Riedel is a writer and expert on government modernisation, digital sovereignty and geopolitics. Her work addresses a shift that affects politics and business alike: technology has long ceased to be mere infrastructure or a tool, and increasingly determines who is dependent, who sets the standards and who remains capable of acting when it matters. Riedel asks what this means for states and companies – and for trust in democratic institutions when the state itself cannot act with digital sovereignty. As Managing Director of NExT e. V., she works on the modernisation of German public administration. A state capable...
