

Expert on statecraft and technology, advisor to governments

Manuel Kilian

Manuel Kilian has worked at the intersection of government and technology for more than ten years: as an advisor to governments, an author, the head of an international organisation and a tech founder. He currently advises several governments; for Germany's Federal Ministry for Digital Transformation and Government Modernisation, he oversees the House of Germany at the World Economic Forum Annual Meeting in Davos. He is also Co-Founder of The Agentic State, an initiative rethinking government action with the help of agentic AI. As founding managing director, he previously built the Global Government Technology Centre Berlin, a joint initiative of the...
