

Leading Expert in NEUROLEADERSHIP

Andy Habermacher

Andy Habermacher is one of Europe's leading experts on 'Neuroleadership'. With almost 20 years experience in the field of corporate education, he works with senior leaders of major multinationals. His passion for people and his insights into the brain have the ability to change perspectives and create a lasting impact for individuals and within organisations. Andy became fascinated with neuroscience after meeting a Harvard neuroscientist during an advanced executive coaching course he was doing in the USA. He followed his interest up with various studies, research and writings and quickly became a name in the application of neuroscience to leadership...
