

Adventurer, Mountaineer, Explorer & Technology Entrepreneur

Paul Niel

Paul Niel is an Adventurer, Explorer and Technology entrepreneur. For more than two decades, he has undertaken expeditions to all corners of the globe, from Antarctica to the deserts of Mongolia, from the jungles of Central Africa to the Himalayas. He has used drones to search for dinosaur fossils, employed virtual reality to solve a World War II mystery, and solved a Rubik's cube on the summit of Mount Everest. On his expeditions, he pursued a variety of goals-scientific, physical, extreme endurance and toughness. His goal: to keep the team together and get home safely-whether he faced mutiny on a...
