

Expert on sustainability, author, director

Katarina Schickling

Documentary filmmaker and Spiegel bestselling author Katarina Schickling lives her enthusiasm for sustainability and good food. In front of and behind the camera and in her books, she conveys how the transformation of our society can succeed in the face of the climate crisis and what decisions are needed to achieve this: in our everyday consumption, but also at the level of companies and in politics. Together with TV chef Tim Mälzer, she developed the food checks on ARD: she questions nutrition myths, investigates the origin and production conditions of food and exposes greenwashing. For programs such as “ZDF Zoom,”...
