

Football commentator, Football expert, Podcaster

Werner Hansch

Werner Hansch is the voice of the Ruhr region. No other German sports commentator has such a distinctive voice that can be heard among hundreds of other voices. He wrote football history with his energetic TV and radio reports and is still one of the most popular and best-known commentators on German television. With heart and gut - that could be the motto of sports reporter Werner Hansch. Passion at the microphone is his trademark, he brings the emotions from the football stadium into the homes of his viewers and listeners. But his path that led him to the announcer's...
