

Olympic Champion, Professional Beach Volleyball player, LGBTQ activist

Kira Walkenhorst

Kira Walkenhorst has won all relevant international and national beach volleyball titles in her career and thus made sports history. The 2016 Olympic champion and 2017 World and European champion in 2013 and 2015 was repeatedly set back by persistent injuries and fought her way back into the sand each time with her irrepressible will. The exceptional athlete had to endure an unbelievable ten operations. Cruciate ligament, meniscus, shoulder, medial ligament and hip surgeries, followed by mononucleosis, set her back again and again. Again and again a career end threatened, but Kira did not give up. She spent countless months…
