Jonas Reckermann

In 2012, Julius Brink and Jonas Reckermann made sporting history. At the Summer Olympics, they were the first European team ever to win the gold medal in front of an audience of millions. Countless awards followed, such as the "Silver Laurel Leaf", the "Bambi" in the category "Sport" and the "Felix Award" in the category "Team of the Year" and many more. At the beginning of 2013, Jonas Reckermann had to end his career due to persistent health problems.
