

Former serbian football player & coach

Dragoslav Stepanovi?

Dragoslav Stepanovi? was one of the world's best full-backs in the late 1960s and early 1970s. In 1976 he was called up to a world eleven. He played for Manchester City and Frankfurt Eintracht, among others. He played 34 times for Yugoslavia's national team. In Germany he was active as a player for Eintracht Frankfurt and Wormatia Worms. In April 1991, he was hired by Bernd Hölzenbein, then manager of Eintracht Frankfurt, as a coach for the Bundesliga. "Stepi's" friendly manner and easygoing tone quickly endeared him to players, fans and the media, but also led to doubts about his...
