

Former Ice Hockey Player

Kevin Lötscher

Kevin Lötscher – Ice time. Kevin Lötscher was just twenty-three years old when he scored two goals for Switzerland in his first senior World Championship against the USA on May 9, 2011. All doors were open to him – even those to the best ice hockey league in the world, the NHL. But just five days later, everything changed. On 14 May 2011, he was hit by a drunk driver in Valais and flew thirty meters onto a pile of gravel. Unconsciousness, danger to life. Lötscher: “From hero to zero – in less than a week.” Lötscher suffers severe craniocerebral...
