

AI Expert, Serial Entrepreneur, Angel Investor & Visionary

Carsten Kraus

Carsten Kraus is an AI expert, author, serial entrepreneur, angel investor, and visionary with over 30 years of experience. When Atari bought his first commercial product, they didn't know that their new programming language, which was 70 times faster than the previous Atari BASIC, had been developed in a teenager's bedroom. His curiosity for algorithms and AI led to the creation of products that have become indispensable for many large European corporations and SMEs. This was followed by further company foundations, investments, numerous innovations, and patent applications for AI procedures, with which he led breakthrough innovations to success. In his...
